Lebanon: the Real Story

By Eve Lampert

For some years the Christian people of Lebanon had grown virtually isolated from the Arab world. This has now ended with the emergence of the PLO. The PLO is a militant group that has been fighting for the freedom of the Palestinian people against Israel. The PLO has also been involved in fighting against Israel in other regions of the world, such as in the Gulf War. The PLO has been active in Lebanon since the late 1970s, and has been involved in fighting against the Israeli army. The PLO has been a catalyst for the growth of other militant groups in the region, such as Hezbollah. PROGRAM NOTES

SMAIL'S SHPIEL

Be sure to see our new years and annual fund-raising presentation by Director of Hillel and, later, President of the Hillel of Congregational Union. The program will be shown at 11:30 AM on January 1, 1991. The Hillel Board of Directors has recently changed to a new format for successes in support of Hillel's operations. For details see the bulletin.

During the transitional period, Hillel will seek to employ a new director by February. The new director will be responsible for ensuring that the quality of Hillel's programs is maintained. The new director will be elected by the student body.

I look forward to your continued participation at Hillel.

The P.L.O. wants to be recognized.

Here are 10 ways to recognize them.

1. Their victims are unarmed civilians, and they throw children from classroom windows.
2. They hijack and blow up civilian airliners all over the world.
3. They promise to cut off oil to America by bombing supertankers.
4. They murder American diplomats in Beirut, Lebanon and Khartoum, Sudan.
5. They try to sabotage Western peace efforts, promising to ‘cut off the head’ of Carter, Sadat and Begin.
6. They claim to represent Palestinian rights, while assassinating Palestinian leaders who want peace.
7. They learn to kill in Russia, with Russian arms.
8. They support worldwide terror working with Italy’s Red Brigade, Germany’s Baader-Meinhof, Japan’s Red Army and more.
10. Their leader wears a gun at the UN as do his terrorists on their murderous raids.

LET'S RECOGNIZE THE P.L.O. FOR EXACTLY WHAT IT IS.

The Hanukkah Story

By Eve Lempert

On Hanukkah, we celebrate the miracle of the oil and the story of the Maccabees. The Hanukkah story is one of courage and devotion, a time when the Jewish people faced an enemy that sought to destroy their faith. The story of Hanukkah is a testament to the power of faith and resilience in the face of adversity.

In 164 B.C.E., Antiochus IV Epiphanes, the king of Syria, issued an edict that required all Jews to worship his gods and abandon their own faith. The Jews, led by Judah Maccabeus, rebelled against this decree and fought for their freedom. The battle took place on the Temple Mount, where the menorah, a symbol of Jewish faith, was destroyed.

One day a man named Hanukkah witnessed the miracle of oil. A small amount of oil was sufficient to light the menorah for eight days, an event that has come to symbolize the power of faith and the victory of good over evil.

MY TURN • MY TURN • MY TURN

The laugh heard round the world
By Mark Elliott Miller

There’s a joke in New York City: It’s not a joke, but it’s about stand-up comedians in the world the funniest in the United Nations.

For years, the “New York” joke has been an essential to any self-respecting comedy club. And the reason is, by no means, simple. It isn’t that the joke itself is particularly funny; it’s that it’s been told so often, and by so many different people, that it’s become almost an institution. And as such, it has taken on a life of its own, becoming a sort of symbol of the city’s comedy scene. It’s a joke that even comedians themselves have come to appreciate, using it as a sort of benchmark for their own skill and talent.

New Group in Israel protects Gay rights
By Beatrice Cohen

USPNI — A new group in Israel has been established to protect the rights of the Gay community. The group, called the “New Group in Israel,” was formed last year and is made up of volunteers from various organizations around the country.

The group’s main focus is to provide legal aid and support to Gay people who face discrimination or harassment. They also work to raise awareness about the issues facing the Gay community and to promote tolerance and understanding.

The New Group in Israel has already achieved some notable victories. Last year, they successfully helped a Gay couple to obtain a marriage license in a small town in the country, despite strong opposition from local officials. They have also worked to overturn a law that restricted the rights of Gay people in the army.

The group’s director, Tamar, said, “We are here to help those who are marginalized and to fight for their rights. We believe that everyone, regardless of their sexual orientation, deserves equal treatment and respect.”

Abraham and the Contemporary Mind

A book review by Erwin Schleifer

Abraham and the Contemporary Mind is a book that attempts to bridge the gap between the ancient Israelite and the modern Jewish. The book is a thoughtful exploration of the ways in which the ideas and beliefs of the Bible can be applied to contemporary issues.

The author, a scholar of Jewish studies, argues that the stories of the Bible are not just historical narratives, but also a record of the human experiences and values of the people who lived at that time. He demonstrates how the themes of faith, justice, and morality are present in the stories of the Bible and how they can be relevant to our lives today.

The book is a valuable resource for anyone interested in the intersection of religious and contemporary thought.

The presentation focused on the history of the organization and its role in providing support to Jewish communities around the world. The audience was encouraged to participate in Shabbat as a way to connect with their roots.

A GREAT MIRACLE HAPPENED THERE

This is a story about a young man who was involved in a car accident. Despite the injuries he sustained, he made a full recovery and was able to return to his normal life. The story is meant to inspire hope and resilience, and to remind us of the power of faith and community in times of need.

Dear Friend,

Money is usually a depressing topic of conversation among college students. High tuition costs leave most students without a great amount of cash. But, in my case, it is even more futile to even suggest that you consider making a financial contribution to one of Israel's many Zionists. However, here are three reasons why you should give to the United Jewish Campaign:

1. The obligation to give Tzedakah (generously translated as "charity") comes with every Jew, regardless of age or status in life. So, one's budget is so tight they can't pay off a "bill" ($20 a week).
2. The social and humanitarian needs of Zionists be in Israel, Ethiopia, Australia, or here in Houston - are growing.
3. College students have a special stake in ensuring a strong and creative Jewish future. That future can only come about through giving of one's time and one's resources.

Your United Jewish Campaign pledge is considered a year-long commitment and can be fulfilled in a single check or monthly payments. Please fill out the attached form and mail it as soon as you finish this letter.

Please take an active role in preserving and promoting local and world Jewry by making your contribution today. Your generous donations show that Jewish students not only care about the United Jewish Campaign but are willing to take it seriously.

Sincerely,

Amit Barzel and the United Jewish Campaign

The Student Council is considering the possibility of a student referendum, which would be held in the spring. The referendum could be used to address various issues, such as changes to the college's policies or budget decisions. The council members believe that involving students directly in decision-making processes is important for ensuring that the college's direction aligns with the interests of the student body. If successful, the referendum could provide a valuable tool for promoting student engagement and participation. However, the council is aware of the challenges associated with holding a referendum, including logistical considerations and potential opposition from different groups within the student body. They are currently discussing these issues in preparation for the spring referendum.

A new semester has begun. A new year has arrived. The cycle of the seasons itself and the campus of the University of Houston itself is once again familiar.

Each new beginning is an essential element in the creation of an atmosphere for the passing of time. Each new beginning is an essential element in the creation of an atmosphere for the growth of personal and communal relationships.

As mentioned in previous issues of the Houston Hillel, the passing of the seasons is an essential element in the creation of an atmosphere for the growth of personal and communal relationships. At this time, both the campus and the community are at a point of transition. The transition of the seasons is an essential element in the creation of an atmosphere for the growth of personal and communal relationships.

Hillel is a home away from home for the Jewish students who come here from all over the world. The campus, with its many activities, provides a social and cultural center for Jewish students. Hillel sponsors a wide range of programs, including lectures, workshops, and social events. It also provides a support system for students who are interested in Jewish culture and history.

This week, the focus was on the annual Hillel Shabbat dinner, which was held in the main hall of the campus. The dinner included a traditional meal and a prayer service. The event was attended by a large number of students and faculty, who came together to celebrate the Sabbath and to celebrate their shared commitment to Jewish values.

The dinner was followed by a panel discussion on the topic of "Jewish Identity in the 21st Century." The panelists included a mix of students, faculty, and community members. The discussion was lively and engaging, and it provided a platform for sharing ideas and perspectives on this important topic.

The evening concluded with a social gathering, where students and faculty had the opportunity to connect in a more informal setting. The event was a great success, and it demonstrated the strong sense of community that exists within the Hillel community.

The success of the Hillel Shabbat dinner and the panel discussion is a testament to the importance of these events in bringing together students and faculty from diverse backgrounds. The Hillel community is a vital part of the campus life, and it provides a unique opportunity for students to explore their Jewish identity and to engage with the larger Jewish community.

Next month will be the launching of Houston"s Maccabiah observance. The Maccabiah, a Jewish international athletics event, is held every four years. This year, it will be held in Israel. The games will comprise a variety of sports, including soccer, basketball, and track. The Maccabiah will be attended by athletes from countries around the world, including the United States. The event is open to both men and women.

The Maccabiah is an opportunity for the Jewish community to come together and celebrate our heritage. It is also a chance for students to learn about Jewish culture and history. The Maccabiah is an important event for the Jewish community in Houston and the surrounding area. It is a time for us to come together and celebrate our common history and future.

The news of the Arab-Israeli conflict at the University of Houston has been receiving more attention. Arab students are opposing your congressional representatives while voicing their concerns. There is no explanation of the source of conflict among the news that is broadcast. Arab Americans are looking into the conflict by using an additional language script to show understanding.

The news was also reported by the United Nations who are fighting against the Jewish people. The following is a graphic representation of the situation:

The conflict continues to escalate in the Middle East, with the United Nations calling for a resolution to the conflict. The situation continues to unfold as the world watches.

As youth and adults continue to be engaged in the forums that we often fail to talk about, the present is the subject of the present. Despite children's and adults' needs for engaging in the present. One day's events, such as conferences and seminars, have not been as relevant and enjoyed by the adults of the past generation.

The experience is perhaps an example of deferredEvents. Students of interest, such as those of the Viktor group, and adults' schedules are gathered to the idea that can be made; how, graduate school leaders, from information. On the other hand, this isn't simply a philosophical observation and the adults are interested in the idea of projects and projects. One who starts are the challenges of the present and can only take in the different stimuli involved in considering them. How can we bring reality to our present? Living only for the future can bring fiction of the future. Living only for the present cannot appeal to itself. In its own way, I think it's possible to feel....

This past week, a group calling itself the "Soldiers for Peace and Justice" at the University of Houston staged a "Hillel" protest. The group consists of several pro-Palestinian activists who maintain that the University of Houston has "a long history of discriminating against the Palestinian people." While much of the rhetoric of the pro-Palestinian activists is not directed at the University of Houston, the case of the "Soldiers for Peace and Justice" is an example of how the University of Houston can be used to exert influence on the larger community.

The group's slogan, "Soldiers for Peace and Justice," is a play on the name of the Hillel organization. The Hillel organization, which is a Jewish student group on college campuses, is often associated with pro-Israeli policies. The "Soldiers for Peace and Justice" group, on the other hand, is associated with pro-Palestinian policies.

The University of Houston is one of many universities across the United States that have a long history of discriminating against the Palestinian people. This discrimination is often manifested in the form of pro-Israeli policies, which the "Soldiers for Peace and Justice" group seeks to counter.

The University of Houston is known for its strong support of pro-Israeli policies. The University's administration has consistently supported pro-Israeli policies, and has taken action to silence pro-Palestinian voices on campus.

The "Soldiers for Peace and Justice" group is one of many groups on college campuses across the United States that are fighting against pro-Israeli policies. These groups are seeking to create a more equitable and just environment for all students, regardless of their political beliefs.

Appeal from the Soviet Union

Well aware of the government's efforts to alter generally some journal articles and to create a public climate, I left New York to observe the situation. I am now in Moscow. I am not ready to write on the situation but I would like to relate some observations and some impressions.

The Institute of Philosophy, the largest institution in Moscow, was not closed. It was, however, closed for several days last week. Last week the Institute was ordered to close on account of a strike started by the KGB. The reason for the strike was that the KGB wanted to close the Institute in order to make more room for the Institute of Sciences. The KGB is in charge of the Institute of Sciences.

The Institute of Philosophy is a large institution and is supposed to be the most important institution in the Soviet Union. It is supposed to be the center of scientific research in the Soviet Union. It has a large staff of scientists and is supposed to be the most important institution in the Soviet Union.

Jewish New Year to be celebrated on Friday

The Daily Mirror

By Russia

ON SEPTEMBER 16, 1932

The Jewish New Year, Rosh Hashanah, is to be celebrated on Friday. It is a time of reflection and prayer for the Jewish community, who believe that the first day of the new year is a time to seek forgiveness for sins committed in the past year and to make resolutions for the coming year.

The holiday is observed with the blowing of the shofar, a ram's horn, which is used to signal the sanctity of the day. It is also a time for family gatherings and the sharing of traditional foods such as apples and honey.

The Jewish New Year is one of the most important holidays in the Jewish calendar, and is celebrated in communities around the world. It is a time to reflect on the past year and to hope for a better future.

The influence America exerts over Israel is real

By Dena Radinsky

As reported to flow Radinsky's article "Towards Israel," political factors in the United States are increasingly impacting the Middle East. The U.S. has played a major role in Israeli-Palestinian relations since the 1970s. The U.S. has provided economic and military aid to Israel to help it secure its borders and maintain its political stability. The U.S. has also supported Israel's efforts to secure its borders and maintain its political stability.

However, the influence America exerts over Israel is not always positive. The U.S. has often supported policies that have been harmful to the Palestinian people. The U.S. has also been criticized for its support of the Israeli settlement program, which has led to the displacement of thousands of Palestinians from their homes.

The influence America exerts over Israel is real, and it is important for the U.S. to be more proactive in promoting peace in the Middle East.

Nazi hunter Beate Klarsfeld at JCCenter, Thurs., Apr. 14
Begins at 7:30 p.m. - no admission charge

The Ben G. McGuire Lecture Series will present Beate Klarsfeld, world famous Nazi hunter, on Thursday, Apr. 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the Jewish Community Center’s Kaplan Theater. Her topic is “Wherever they may be – one woman’s search for Nazi war criminals.”

She has dedicated her life to the pursuit and prosecution of German and Austrian war criminals to the extent of endangering her own safety. Klarsfeld has been the primary instigator in the tracking down and conviction of such war criminals as Kurt Hahn, and most recently, Klaus Barbie. With the aging of the remaining Nazi collaborators, Klarsfeld may well be in on the last important mission of justice.

There is no charge for this program, which is open to the public. For more information, one can contact the JCC office at 749-2271.
A time to thank Beate Klarsfeld

When Beate Klarsfeld speaks here at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Apr. 14, her message will have the opportunity to thank a servant young lady who has sacrificed her life to saving, for Nazis— wherever they may be.

Klarsfeld joined by her husband, Serge Klarsfeld, in the search for Nazis who have harmed, deported, executed and persecuted those members of the human race who happened to be Jews. Inleded by the Brandenburg Gate, it will mark the end of the Anti-Semitism Conference. As a part of the conference, the Klarsfeld will present the results of their work in France.

Join the Klarsfeld in the journey to the Promised Land.

Born Beate Klarsfeld in 1939 in Berlin, Beate Klarsfeld is a child of the Holocaust. She learned about Nazism and the horrors of the atrocities inflicted upon the Jewish people by those who allowed themselves to be swept up in the mad current of the Holocaust.

The lecture is free and open to everyone interested in this topic. A rare, unique opportunity to say thanks to a courageous "woman of valor" who has become one of the outstanding defenders of the Jewish people.

It’s time to end Jewish defensiveness

I have just come back from a conversation with a European friend who has been in the United States for the last few years. He has observed the American Jewish community closely, and he is convinced that it is time for Jews to adopt a different approach to life. He believes that the Jewish community has become too defensive and too isolated from the rest of society. He suggests that Jews should adopt a more open and positive attitude towards others and towards the world at large.

Several weeks ago, I read an article in the New York Times about the rise of anti-Semitism in Europe. The author argues that the European Jewish community has become too isolated and too defensive, and that this has contributed to the rise of anti-Semitism. He suggests that the Jewish community should adopt a more open and positive attitude towards others and towards the world at large.

I agree with both of these observations. The Jewish community has become too defensive and too isolated from the rest of society. We need to adopt a more open and positive attitude towards others and towards the world at large. Only then can we hope to prevent the rise of anti-Semitism and to build a better future for all of us.

Abbond Chowdury

London, September 22 - The Daily Clarion

The doctoral student in engineering at this university is a native of ‘both Beiruts’ - Beirut, Lebanon and Beirut, New Jersey.

Chowdury, who was born in Lebanon but grew up in New Jersey, was awarded a scholarship to study at this university. He said, "I feel very fortunate to have had the opportunity to study here. It's a great place to learn and grow."

There are few things in this world that are better than a good book.

Readers, who do not have the time to read books, are not recommended to do so. They should instead watch television or listen to the radio.

A few weeks ago, I spent a week in a bookshop. The books were all very good, but I did not have the time to read them all.

It is a pity that some people do not have the time to read books. There are few things in this world that are better than a good book.

The best books are those that are written by authors who have lived through what they write about. These books are always the best.

Two UH professors discuss Mideast war

By MILDA WICHELL

Two University of Houston professors have been asked to address the Middle East war.

Dr. John R. Schwall, a political science professor and an American studies scholar, and Dr. Joseph M. Schwall, a religious studies professor, have been invited to speak on the conflict.

Dr. Schwall said that the war has been largely misunderstood, and that it is important to understand the complex political and religious factors involved.

"The war is not just about Israel and Palestine," Dr. Schwall said. "It is also about Arabic culture and the role of Islam in the region."

Dr. Schwall added that the war has been exacerbated by the presence of foreign powers, including the United States and Israel, which have their own interests at stake.

Dr. Schwall said that the war has been characterized by violence and destruction, but that it is also a source of inspiration for many people.

"The war has taught us the importance of nonviolence and peaceful resolution," Dr. Schwall said. "It has also shown us the power of solidarity and unity."

Conflict seen from Palestinian view

By Ghada Faty

According to the Palestinian view, the Israeli invasion is contrary to U.S. intentions. Faty explains that the Israeli invasion is a clear violation of the U.S. commitment to the peace process. The Palestinian leadership is determined to resist the invasion and protect their land and people. Faty states that the invasion is an act of aggression against the Palestinian people and a violation of international law.

The United States has been a key player in the peace process, and its intentions are to bring about a peaceful solution to the conflict. However, the invasion has caused great concern among the international community, and the U.S. has been under pressure to take action.

Israeli students present editorial rebuttal

By Greg Goodman & Helen Sibor

For the editorial board of The Daily Orange, Thursday, October 2, 1992

The Israeli government's decision to maintain its military occupation of Arab territories is not without critics. In an effort to bring attention to this issue, the editorial board of The Daily Orange presents an editorial rebuttal to a recent opinion piece that supports the Israeli stance.

The editorial begins by acknowledging the complexity of the situation, noting that the occupation is a difficult issue to address. The authors then proceed to dismantle the arguments presented in the opinion piece, highlighting inconsistencies and biases in the logic used.

The rebuttal further argues that the occupation has a negative impact on both the Israeli and Palestinian populations, citing examples of human rights abuses and economic hardships. The authors call for a peaceful resolution to the conflict, emphasizing the importance of international involvement and diplomacy.

The editorial concludes by urging readers to consider the long-term implications of the occupation, encouraging a more nuanced approach to the issue. The authors end with a strong call to action, urging the community to engage in discussions and support initiatives that promote peace and understanding.

The Daily Orange stands in solidarity with the Palestinian people and supports the establishment of a just and peaceful solution. We encourage our readers to remain informed and to participate in constructive dialogue on this important topic.

Palestinians are victims of terrorism

By Ghada Foty

Palestinians are victims of terrorism. The Israeli occupation forces continue to commit atrocities against the Palestinian people. The Palestinian National Authority is powerless to stop the Israeli occupation forces. The Palestinian people are living in a state of fear and uncertainty.

The Israeli occupation forces are responsible for the mass killings of Palestinians. They are using force and violence to maintain their control over the Palestinian territories. The Israeli occupation forces are using tanks, helicopters, and planes to gather information about the Palestinian people. They are also using torture and other forms of violence to extract information from the Palestinian people.

The Israeli occupation forces are also responsible for the destruction of the Palestinian economy. They are using their economic power to control the Palestinian territories. They are also using their economic power to prevent the Palestinian people from accessing basic services, such as electricity and water.

The Palestinian people are living in a state of fear and uncertainty. They are also living in a state of poverty and hardship. The Palestinian people are also living in a state of isolation and separation. They are also living in a state of hopelessness and despair. The Palestinian people are also living in a state of resistance and struggle.

The Palestinian people are also living in a state of hope. They are also living in a state of determination and resilience. They are also living in a state of strength and courage. They are also living in a state of justice and righteousness. The Palestinian people are also living in a state of dignity and honor.

The Palestinian people are also living in a state of faith and spirituality. They are also living in a state of love and compassion. They are also living in a state of hope and eternity. The Palestinian people are also living in a state of humanity and brotherhood.

The Palestinian people are also living in a state of freedom and independence. They are also living in a state of equality and justice. They are also living in a state of democracy and freedom. Tales of Israel's lack of democracy and morality

By A. Mahmoud

In a recent press conference, President Yitzhak Rabin's government announced its intention to withdraw from the West Bank and Gaza Strip, ending Israel's occupation of these territories. The move is seen as a major step toward peace and coexistence with the Palestinian people.

The withdrawal is expected to take place in stages, with the first phase beginning in the fall. The government has also unveiled plans for the establishment of a new Palestinian authority, which will be responsible for security and economic affairs in the territories.

The move is being met withmixed reactions, with some Israelis expressing support and others calling for a more aggressive approach to the conflict.

The withdrawal is seen as a significant victory for the peace process, and is expected to pave the way for a lasting solution to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict.
Oil importing equals unemployment

By F. Vaksman

The United States is still importing 100 percent of its oil. The basic problem is one of energy sources and energy prices. Unemployment is the result of these shortcomings. We need energy, and we need it now.

There is no reason for the United States to produce less energy. Our energy resources are large, and we have the technology to produce them. We have the technology to produce an efficient energy system that could be the basis for our energy policy. This new system must be integrated with our existing energy resources and energy policies. It is time for the United States to take steps to ensure the viability of our energy policies. This is not an easy task, but it is a necessary task.

Palestinian actions don’t erase Israel’s scriptural right to land

By James Boucher

The Middle East conflict has too long accounted for much of the world’s anxiety. Lebanon’s refugees who have flooded into the country are some of the reasons. Israel’s actions, however, have been far more controversial. The PLO, now responsible for Palestinian autonomy, has been targeted. The PLO is a Palestinian armed group that is not recognized by many countries. Their actions have been condemned by the international community.

Introduction

The recent violence in the Middle East has been a source of concern for many countries. The arrival of refugees from Lebanon has added to the already tense situation. Israel’s actions in the region have been widely criticized. The PLO has been targeted by Israel, leading to a hardening of positions. The situation is complex and requires careful consideration.

Conclusion

In conclusion, the situation in the Middle East remains volatile. The role of the international community is crucial in ensuring a peaceful resolution. The PLO's actions have been condemned, but their rights and autonomy must be respected. Israel’s actions must also be considered in light of the region's history and geopolitical factors. Cooperation and dialogue are essential in resolving this conflict.

Film and discussion examine attractions of religious cults

By CAMI OATES

The Daily Cougar

The Film and Discussion Continue to examine the attractions of religious cults. The first meeting was held on October 22, 1977, at 7:00 p.m. in the University Union. The meeting was attended by approximately 50 members of the university community. The discussion centered on the attractions of religious cults and how they can be used to attract new members.

Cults are known for their ability to attract new members. They make promises of spiritual enlightenment and a better life. However, the promises are often false. There have been reports of physical and mental abuse, as well as financial schemes, used by cults to attract new members.

The discussion also included a screening of a film that focused on the attractions of religious cults. The film was well-received by the audience and sparked a lively discussion.

The next meeting will be held on November 5, 1977, at 7:00 p.m. in the University Union. The meeting will continue to examine the attractions of religious cults and how they can be used to attract new members.

Balfour Declaration anniversary today

By Ghada Foty

The 90th anniversary of the Balfour Declaration, which was issued on November 2, 1917, by the British government in response to a request from the Jewish Colonial Trust, is being marked today.

The Balfour Declaration was a significant event in the history of the Zionist movement and the future of the Jewish people. It provided a political platform for the establishment of a Jewish state in Palestine, a step towards fulfilling the aspirations of the Jewish people for a nation-state.

The declaration was a response to the mounting pressure for the recognition of Jewish national merit and the support of the Jewish community. It was a victory for the Zionist movement and a significant milestone in the history of the Jewish people.

Today, the Balfour Declaration is celebrated as a symbol of hope and a testament to the perseverance of the Jewish people. It is a reminder of the importance of peace, coexistence, and understanding between different cultures and communities.

The Balfour Declaration continues to inspire and motivate people around the world, and its legacy is an inspiration to those who strive for a better future.

Stop imports
Tariffs on oil could lead to U.S. energy independence

By Fabian Vaksman

The U.S. energy crisis could soon lead to a multiplicity of price increases for oil. This crisis could be terminal for the U.S. economy. The United States is heavily dependent on oil imports, and the U.S. government is in a difficult position to deal with this crisis. The solution is a watchful eye on the market and a readiness to take action if necessary.

The main objective of these efforts would be to ensure that the U.S. government is prepared to respond to any situation that arises. This would involve the coordination of U.S. and foreign policy, as well as the creation of a new, more efficient system for dealing with such crises. The United States should also consider ways to reduce its dependence on oil imports, such as by developing alternative energy sources.

The United States has a unique opportunity to act as a leader in the global energy market. This would involve the coordination of U.S. and foreign policy, as well as the creation of a new, more efficient system for dealing with such crises. The United States should also consider ways to reduce its dependence on oil imports, such as by developing alternative energy sources.

Why do we have to depend on Middleast oil, or any foreign oil?

The United States is heavily dependent on oil imports, and the U.S. government is in a difficult position to deal with this crisis. The solution is a watchful eye on the market and a readiness to take action if necessary.

The main objective of these efforts would be to ensure that the U.S. government is prepared to respond to any situation that arises. This would involve the coordination of U.S. and foreign policy, as well as the creation of a new, more efficient system for dealing with such crises. The United States should also consider ways to reduce its dependence on oil imports, such as by developing alternative energy sources.

The United States has a unique opportunity to act as a leader in the global energy market. This would involve the coordination of U.S. and foreign policy, as well as the creation of a new, more efficient system for dealing with such crises. The United States should also consider ways to reduce its dependence on oil imports, such as by developing alternative energy sources.
Palestine root of Arab-Israeli conflict

By [Author]

The current conflict between Arab and Israeli nations has its roots in the long history of relations between the two peoples. The conflict is not just a matter of territorial disputes or political ideologies, but rather a struggle for identity and survival. The root of the conflict lies in the historical and cultural differences between the two sides.

Christians and Critics

Personally, I complain and remember people's negative attitude towards Christians, especially during the time of Christ's ministry. However, I was amazed by the fact that even among those who criticized Christianity, a few of them recognized its significance. The situation when the apostle Paul addressed the congregation in Corinth, asking them to pray for him, is a good example of this. The Corinthians acknowledged the influence of Jesus and his teachings, and even some of them started to believe in Christianity. This is a testament to the message of love, mercy, and forgiveness that Jesus taught, which resonates with many people, regardless of their religious background.

Israel Freedom

This is a great opportunity to promote the values of democracy and human rights in the Middle East. The ongoing conflict between Israel and Palestine has been a constant source of tension and conflict. It is crucial to support peace initiatives and encourage dialogue between both parties. The recently announced prisoner release agreement is a positive step towards peace. We must continue to support these efforts and work towards a lasting solution.

Karp speaks against prayer in schools

By Jack Stenigas

Prayer does not have a role in public schools, according to Karp, who said, "I believe that prayer has no place in public schools." He added, "The establishment of prayer in public schools is a violation of the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which guarantees the separation of church and state." Karp further stated, "It is not appropriate for the government to endorse any particular religion or prayer."

AMERICANS, ISRAEL, AND PEACE

The peoples of the United States and Israel share common ideals, values, and spiritual roots. Both governments are committed to democracy, justice, human rights and freedoms. We affirm our unwavering support for the State of Israel and recognize its right to live within secure and recognized boundaries free from threat or act of force. We feel that it is essential for the Congress and the Administration to continue the Disengagement policies which enhance the economic stability and the military security of the State of Israel. These policies are clearly beneficial to both Americans and Israelis.

In light of this consensus, we commend the November 30, 1987 United Nations resolution which rejects the establishment of the Jewish State. We regard the continued rejection of this history set by most of Israel's inhabitants.

Unquestionably the Palestinian people have certain inalienable rights and we support negotiations with Palestinian representatives who openly acknowledge the legitimacy of the State of Israel. We feel that this condition is the essential prerequisite to sincere negotiations designed to guarantee Palestinian rights while simultaneously securing Israeli borders.

A genuine peace between Israel and her neighbors must encompass full diplomatic relations, the end of hostile propaganda, and the elimination of political and economic warfare. These objectives can only be attained through mutual understanding and respect by all peoples who live in this troubled region. When these goals are realized, Israel and her neighbors will live in peace and tranquility.

All Welcome
Jordan - not just another Arab nation

By Greg Goodman

The Daily Courier

November 20, 1987

The "new" Jordan is a country on the move. Its young population is hungry for change and opportunity. The country is in the midst of a rapid economic transformation, and its leaders are determined to make it a success.

One of the key drivers of this transformation is the government's commitment to modernization. The country has made significant strides in areas such as education, health care, and infrastructure. The government has invested heavily in these sectors, and the results are clear.

Another important factor is the role of the private sector. The government has created a favorable environment for businesses to thrive, and this has led to a surge in economic activity.

The country's location is also a significant advantage. Jordan is strategically located at the crossroads of the Middle East and Europe, making it an ideal hub for trade and investment.

Despite these developments, Jordan still faces many challenges. The country is still heavily reliant on foreign aid, and it is vulnerable to fluctuations in global markets. The government must continue to focus on economic diversification to ensure long-term prosperity.

In conclusion, Jordan is a country that is in the process of becoming something new. It is worth watching closely to see how it will evolve in the years to come.

Obstacles to peace

As mentioned in the Daily Cougar's last Nov. 26, 1962, edition, the primary obstacles to peace in the world today are the two superpowers. To bring them to a mutual understanding, they must first understand each other. This can be achieved through mutual communication and understanding. It is hoped that the efforts of the peace movement will bring about a peaceful world.

Yours truly,

The United States seems that, in case of a problem, there is no country that can go as far as to ask the people that were born from 1950s through the end of 1960s. Some people between the two, and the group of people between the two, have different views on the way that the United States is divided. We create an atmosphere. The United States are aware of the Americans, and I will tell you, there is no connection of any kind between the United and daily.

Israelis congratulated for use of American weapons

By Gary Varvak

Recently, an open letter was published in The New York Times by President Ronald Reagan and Israeli leader Benjamin Netanyahu. In the letter, they acknowledged the unprecedented use of American weapons in the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. The letter stated that the United States has a strategic and moral interest in a peaceful resolution of the conflict.

The letter also highlighted the importance of American support for Israel. The United States has been a steadfast ally of Israel, providing it with significant military and economic assistance. The letter emphasized the importance of continued American support for Israel, as it is critical to maintaining regional stability.

The reaction to the letter was mixed. Some praised it for its boldness and clarity, while others criticized it for its perceived bias in favor of Israel. Regardless, the letter served as a reminder of the importance of American support for the Middle East peace process.

Standing strong

The Lebanese people feel strong and secure towards the chaos and violence that are the evident attacks on the U.S. Embassies in Beirut. The people are part of the constant change from small militant groups and also deserted many of the middle road people groups led by the U.S. These middle groups, who have not taken the middle road, have joined and sided the right road in Lebanon, and they have now joined demonstrations to support the American cause. We believe the U.S. has a right to choose its agents in the Middle East.

We greatly admire the U.S. stood when the United States evacuation in the Beirut area. We express the United States for their arrival to Beirut and for their international support. We express the thanks to the leadership of the assistance to the Lebanese people in the future.

We hope that the United States and all the free world will continue the fight the might of the tyrannical and anti-democratic forces. The Lebanese people will continue the fight for freedom and democracy in Lebanon. The U.S. support and encouragement play a major role in the Middle East.

2. Public Relations will continue to cover Miller on the College Media, which will be available on the College. We hope to have a placement service in operation before the present semester.
Ridiculous planning prepared to be reported to the Board for the 1980-81 school year. This planning would include:

- Weekly consultation with the Director regarding planning and implementation of programs.
- Oversight of financial constraints including check signing and supervision of bookkeeping process.
- Availability for counseling and student services.
- Act as a liaison for upcoming events (to include name in approved by Sandy Kaiser).
- Co-chair of the Board of Directors.

The above would be held every month with January, August, and concurred with in May, 1981.

B. Budget

1. Richard H. Eisensmith presented a revised budget for the year which reflected adjustments due to the change in personnel. It also addressed the viability of several sources of income and whether it would have an impact upon expenditures. The concern was that any additional costs like this area be somehow self-sustained within one projected expenditures for student programs.

2. Judge Alvin B. Eisenman proposed that the Board engage the services of Bally (bally's homepage as a consultant to Bally). His responsibilities would include:

   - Weekly consultation with the Director regarding planning and implementation of programs.
   - Oversight of financial constraints including check signing and supervision of bookkeeping process.
   - Availability for counseling and student services.
   - Assistance in preparation of 1982-83 budget.
   - Act as a liaison for upcoming events (to include name in approved by Sandy Kaiser).

The Board of Directors agreed to hold every month with January, August, and concurred with in May, 1981.

3. Sydney Rader reported to accept the budget as presented. It was recorded by Emily L. Watts, Secretary.

Director's Report - Bally sneakily asked the students to report on student activities.

A. Sydney Rader reported on Starstruck, the Jewish Student Newsletter. The second issue is expected to be mailed out soon. Sydney will be attending the Jewish Student Press Conference in New York City. The newsletter is expected to be mailed out next month.

B. Bob Allen reported on the activities of the Israel Student Group at the University of Houston. There are at least three active student organizations on campus, including the Wharton JSPA student group. The ACC has challenged the Arab Student Organization's hiring process in the Student Council. If successful, the organization will be dissolved. Sydney Allen reported that error in the Student Council's minutes.

D. Finance

3. Sydney Rader reported to accept the budget as presented. It was recorded by Emily L. Watts, Secretary.
Jewish students are no longer bound to the current economic status to achieve the ideal. The financial need statement and the financial aid packages are equally ranked or given priority for Jewish college youth. These needs can be found in part as part of the social and educational environment and financial aid programs.

In view of the present educational focus upon career and occupational structures, Hillel and the Jewish community can provide a significant service to Jewish college students in this area.

1. Identification of the professional goals of the Jewish college students needs to be understood. This will vary from campus to campus, but will probably result within a generally focused range of career aspirations.

2. Identification of areas of the Jewish community who have special expertise in these professions and who are willing to share these aspirations with college students.

3. Identification of students of the Jewish community who have specific employment needs such as filling internships, obtaining apprenticeships, or filling the number of openings available. Such information could facilitate the job referral efforts of the Job Network Program. This would be facilitated through a special bulletin or a regular supplement to the Hillel monthly calendar.

4. The development of vocational assistance programs through the selection of Hillel for service in the greater Houston area. Such programs, to help a broader range of students, would provide Jewish students with an opportunity to meet with business and professional people.

5. The program could consist of both members of the Board of Directors as the President and the Executive Director, working in cooperation with the professional assistant to the Executive Director.

Dear Parent,

Happy Hanukkah!

We hope that the light and warmth of the festival will radiate love and joy in your home.

Here at Hillal, we seek throughout the year to kindle the beauty of our Jewish heritage within your child. Without a strong and positive Jewish environment on campus, the college experience lacks an important ingredient necessary for a student’s development.

Hanukkah is the festival of freedom. We hope you will share with us the responsibility for maintaining Jewish life.

Please include us among your Hanukkah gifts this year by adding a tax-deductible donation ($25, $50, etc.) in his or her honor. Envelope in a self-addressed envelope for your convenience.

During this season, we hope to familiarize you with the various aspects of the Hillel program as well as its relationship to the general student community.

Please R.S.V.P. by Friday at Hillel (849-1212).

Sincerely,

Dear Board Members,

With the passage of Shabbat comes the start of a new academic year. For nearly a month, the Hillel staff has been in the process of preparing an exciting new array of programs for Jewish students at University of Houston, Rice University, and the Texas Medical Center. Shaped around events as well as a new wave of Jewish interest in Hillel, we look forward to the first issue of Spirit, the Jewish student newspaper. You will be receiving a copy soon.

Therefore, our first meeting of the year will be held on Sunday, September 26th at 7:30 p.m. at the Jewish Community Center. Our agenda will include introduction of new Board members, a Job Network program, new fundraising projects, and reports by the various Board committees.

We hope you will make every effort to attend. Please RSVP to Marsh or Hillel (749-2971).

With every good wish for a healthy and prosperous New Year.

Sincerely,

Judge Alvin Eliahu

Was Chicken Little Jewish?
Like Chicken Little, Jews always seem to think the sky is falling and the end is nigh. Predicting doom is a familiar Jewish posture, particularly when discussing the college campus.

The college has been declared a disaster area by some. We have been assured that assimilation, intermarriage, the cults, anti-Semites and Arab propaganda are likely to bring about the immediate end of the Jewish people.

We don't know if that is the case in some places, but it is not on our campus. We may be hit by a few rocks from time to time, but the heavens are holding firm.

Our major problem is not the lack of Jewish student commitment, but our inability to respond to the Jewish commitment that exists.

The Hillel program we have is fine, it is insufficient. We need your help not to keep us from collapse but to help us flourish.

The program described inside is our contribution to Jewish life on campus. Won't you send us yours? We need many small gifts for we do not receive enough large ones.

Help us work to be sure the sky will not come down on our heads. We want to prove the Chicken Little story is only a bad joke.

Please mail us your tax deductible donation today in our self-addressed return envelope.

Thank you on behalf of Jewish students attending Rice University, the University of Houston, and the Texas Medical Center.
The Houston Hill Foundation serves as a specialized service agency seeking to honor and preserve Jewish identity among Jewish college students. The purpose of such a goal is not only to enable Jewish college students to develop their understanding of the Jewish tradition but to ensure the continuity of Jewish life. Hill also serves as a bridge between Jewish students and adult Judaism.

The congregation also has an important role in introducing the students to Jewish youth, despite geographical distances and differing religious needs, many college students still desire a link to their “true congregations.” The congregation within the hill, that would provide a better chance of guiding a potentially new student.

The goal of the Hill and the congregation with regard to college youth is complimentary. Each seeks to facilitate Jewish involvement and continued interest in the Jewish community.

A step-by-step outline under the auspices of the Houston Hill Foundation, Student Director, would operate to coordinate the role of the project. Each congregation would be encouraged to send at least one representative.

The congregation's task would include the following:

1. Each congregation would solicit a list of junior and senior-year college students who are listed as Jewish, and their parents would be asked for their agreement or disapproval.

2. The list of junior college students would be forwarded to Hill in order for the 1st Conferences to contact those students regarding the local Hill project.

3. The list of junior college students would be mailed to Hill in order for the Hill congregation to contact those students to arrange homecoming activities during winter and spring breaks and summer vacations. These activities would be organized by Hill in cooperation with the Jewish Community Center and the congregation.

4. The project would not consist of any geographical boundaries, as long as this list could also be sent to the Houston Hill Foundation across the country in order for the Hill congregations to contact students in their presence.
4. During the coming of the academic year, special packets could be mailed to new-of-year and college student congregations. The Hebrew School, the Jewish Community Center, and the
 Humboldt Public School could also be used as well as Sunday Packet for
 Humboldt, Public, and Foreign.

The committee would determine how to organize the distribution of the packets and their financial costs. Decisions pertaining to the division of work and the various procedures and publishing the packets would also be made by the committee.

Following a brief discussion, Judge Eisenman appointed the executive committee as the nominating committee and asked the Board members to forward recommendations to the group.

Judge Eisenman introduced Rabbi William B. Friedman who is responsible for recruitment, field supervision, and information gathering at the National Hillel office in Washington D.C. Rabbi Friedman was specifically in Houston to meet with the Board and review the procedures for listing a new Past President. His presentation included the following comments:

1. Houston Hillel must decide whether it prefers a rabbinical or non-rabbinical Director since both are available from within the Hillel system.
2. A search committee must be formed which will be composed of Board members, Faculty and student representatives, and parents of students.
3. The search committee must decide which qualities are the most important: educational level, teaching and counseling skills, management experience, potential for developing student leadership, compatibility and enthusiasm.
4. Once National Hillel forwards a nominee, the Board of Directors must make provisions for a two-day interview which will include a discussion of the conditions of employment.
5. Houston Hillel must review the Hillel Personnel Code and decide whether to adopt it in full or part.

Rabbi Friedman concluded by saying that candidates would be available in the near future and be non-rabbinical. He said that he would find a qualified person to serve as the Director of Hillel.

The meeting was adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

Dear Parent,

Happy Hanukkah!

We hope that the light and warmth of the candles will radiate love and joy in your home.

Here at Texas A&M, we seek throughout the year to kindle the beauty of our Jewish heritage within your child. Without a strong and protective Jewish environment on campus, the college experience lacks an essential ingredient necessary for a student’s development.

Hanukkah is the Festival of Lights. We hope you will share with us the responsibility for maintaining Jewish life.

Please include an event your Hanukkah gifts this year by making a tax-deductible donation ($50, $100, etc.) to help us continue to achieve our goals. Enrolled in a self-addressed envelope for your convenience.

Dear Parent,

Despite the ongoing struggle for Jewish survival, it is a challenge we face every day. The obstacles to a vibrant Jewish future are external (political, anti-Semitism, Arab propaganda, apocalyptic, and internecine struggles, inter-marriage, and inadequate Jewish education).

But there are no insurmountable! Thanks to the establishment of Hiller in Houston four years ago, thousands of students have attended our activities. In the next season, we offer a full range of religious, educational, and social activities to over 3,000 Jewish students enrolled at University of Houston, Rice University and the Texas Medical Center.

Our ability to offer a positive and meaningful Jewish option to students in directly related to personal contributions. Without support, a vibrant Jewish presence is not possible. We need your support, too!

Please send us a tax-deductible contribution of a check ($100), a double check ($30) or become a Charter (total of $100). A helpful donation envelope is enclosed. For your convenience, please do not write. We want your support today!

Sincerely,
